MO HEALTHNET EMPLOYER MATCH REPORT

Executive Summary

The MO HealthNet (MHN) Employer Match Report provides a description of employers of 50 or more MHN enrollees and/or employees that are responsible for spouses or children who are MHN enrollees. MHN is Missouri's Medicaid program. The report is intended to assess the relative extent to which employees of Missouri's largest employers are enrolled in MHN. This report, prepared by the Department of Social Services (DSS) from available data, does not purport to be a full accounting of Missouri employers with employees or families who are enrolled in MHN. The data limitations are discussed more fully in the methodology section at the end of the report.

Employment information was obtained from the MHN eligibility file. Employment information accuracy is dependent on information supplied by the enrollee and how that information is entered into the eligibility file. Due to variations of employer names that occur in the eligibility file, accurate standardization of all employer names was not possible.

For the most part, total workforce numbers were primarily obtained from the InfoUSA database, provided by the Missouri Department of Economic Development. Using the InfoUSA data, DSS identified approximately 2,300 employers with a Missouri workforce of 150 or more employees. Upon review of the InfoUSA data compared to the MHN eligibility file, 307 employers had 50 or more employees that received MHN benefits for themselves and/or were responsible for a family member that was an MHN enrollee.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

Title XIX - Traditional MHN claims

Title XXI (CHIP) - is the Children's Health Insurance Program, which provides health coverage for children whose income is below 300% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) and who do not qualify for traditional MHN benefits. Monthly premiums are required for individuals whose FPL is between 150% and 299%.

HIPP premium payments - are made when an MHN enrollee has access to employer-sponsored health insurance and it is more cost effective to pay the healthcare premium for the individual than to provide the traditional MHN coverage. In such cases, the private insurance becomes the primary carrier and MHN is the secondary carrier, paying only for those services not covered by the primary carrier.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

Title XIX - Traditional MHN claims

Title XXI (CHIP) - is the Children's Health Insurance Program, which provides health coverage for children whose income is below 300% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) and who do not qualify for traditional MHN benefits. Monthly premiums are required for individuals whose FPL is between 150% and 299%.

HIPP premium payments - are made when an MHN enrollee has access to employer-sponsored health insurance and it is more cost effective to pay the healthcare premium for the individual than to provide the traditional MHN coverage. In such cases, the private insurance becomes the primary carrier and MHN is the secondary carrier, paying only for those services not covered by the primary carrier.

*The size of the workforce is obtained from public data sources other than InfoUSA.

Where inconsistencies exist between workforce size and number of MHN enrollees, assume the data from the two sources (FAMIS and InfoUSA) was not comparable; therefore, do not rely upon the percentages.

MHN enrollees associated with employers for whom workforce information could not be obtained are excluded from the calculation of the statewide percentage of employees who receive MHN benefits.

MO HEALTHNET EMPLOYER MATCH REPORT

Methodology

The Department of Social Services (DSS) attempted to determine the number of employees and their dependents receiving MO HealthNet benefits that are employed by companies or organizations that employ 150 or more workers in the State of Missouri. The time period covered by this report is January to March 2012.

The Department utilized information about MO HealthNet (MHN) enrollees from the electronic eligibility file, known as the Family Assistance Management Information System (FAMIS). FAMIS eligibility includes all large eligibility groups except refugees, presumptively eligible enrollees, Breast or Cervical Cancer Control Project, and individuals served by the Children's Division.

The Department used InfoUSA data, provided by the Department of Economic Development, to determine the employers in Missouri with 150 or more employees. InfoUSA is a commercial enterprise that compiles business and personal data for sale to businesses. According to its website, InfoUSA maintains a comprehensive database of 210 million consumers and 14 million businesses. To compile databases, InfoUSA starts with more than 4,000 telephone directories and 350 new business sources, such as Secretaries of State, county courthouses, and public record notices. To verify and update the information in the database, 600 researchers make 26 million calls to businesses each year. The Department of Economic Development subscribes to this service and shared the data with DSS.

The InfoUSA database contained approximately 2,300 Missouri employers of 150 or more workers. From this list, DSS matched approximately 500 employers to the MHN eligibility database. While examining employment information on MHN eligibility files, DSS noted some large Missouri employers were absent from the InfoUSA list. To produce a more comprehensive list of large employers, DSS added these employers to the list. Whenever possible, DSS used public sources to obtain workforce numbers for those employers. When the size of the employer's Missouri workforce could not be located, the workforce size was indicated by "n/a".

There are some drawbacks and inaccuracies in the InfoUSA data that should be noted.

- Multiple listings. Although the InfoUSA database has employer addresses, the MHN eligibility file does not. If an employer has more than one site or operates in another state, it is not possible to determine accurately if the employer information entered in the FAMIS database "matches" the employer listed on the InfoUSA database. For example, InfoUSA lists "McDonald's Corporate Office" with a workforce of 300. This report combines all MHN enrollees who list McDonald's as their employer throughout the state under the name "McDonald's". If this were not done, there would likely be very few matches to the exact name "McDonald's Corporate Office" because many MHN enrollees simply list "McDonald's" as their employer, without any reference to a specific location.
- Name inconsistencies. Companies can be listed in the InfoUSA database under a name that is different than is commonly associated with the business. For example, Pella Windows is listed as EFOC Corp. in the InfoUSA database. The use of such corporate names, rather than common names, can result in missed matches if these associations are not recognized. The Department reviewed the employers on the InfoUSA list and consulted other public sources for business information in order to make as many matches as possible; however, DSS does not represent that this process was exhaustive or that all variants between the information listed in the InfoUSA database and employer names in the MHN eligibility files were discovered or noted in the report.

- Inaccurate workforce numbers. In some instances, based on the number of MHN enrollees associated with a particular employer in the FAMIS database, the workforce number in the InfoUSA database appeared low. For those employers, DSS attempted to find a better source for this information. If a more accurate source, such as a company's website, could be found, DSS replaced the information in the InfoUSA database with the updated information. An example is the State of Missouri, where information from the Office of Administration, instead of the InfoUSA database, was used to determine the correct number of state employees.
- Inconsistency in franchise employers. National chains have varying business models. Some national chains are made up of individual franchises that operate as independent businesses. Other national chains own all of their outlets. Some are a mix of the two; i.e., some locations are corporately owned and other locations are independent franchises. Under these circumstances, it is not possible to determine who the actual employer is and to draw conclusions about these employers. Individual franchises may operate differently with respect to the provision of health insurance for their employees.

Based on employment information in the FAMIS database, each MHN family member was assigned a code:

- E = an employed individual who is also an MHN enrollee;
- N = an employed individual who is not eligible for MHN benefits for himself or herself but is responsible for a spouse or child who is enrolled in MHN;
- C = an MHN enrolled child of an employed individual; or
- S = an MHN enrolled spouse of an employed individual.

There is no protocol for employer name entry in FAMIS. Manual analysis was required to account for the different ways employer names are shown. This analysis resulted in standardizing employer names due to the inconsistency in spellings and collapsing multiple level organizations into specific employers.

Timing of data should also be considered when reviewing this data match. MHN enrollees are required to notify DSS when there is any change in status, such as a change in employer or a change in pay. However, these changes may not always be reported in a timely fashion. If status changes are not reported to DSS by the MHN enrollee, DSS may be unaware of the change until the next reinvestigation when the information in the database will be updated.

The cost of MHN benefits was calculated by MHN's claims processing contractor, Wipro. The contractor matched MHN enrollees with paid claims during the quarter, January – March, 2012, and assigned the cost to the appropriate individual.

If an MHN enrollee was associated with more than one employer, DSS divided the cost per employer equally.

In addition to showing the total cost for each employer, costs are shown separately for Title XIX claims (traditional Medicaid claims), Title XXI claims (CHIP claims), HIPP premium payments, and other costs. HIPP payments are made when an MHN enrollee has access to employer-sponsored health insurance and it is more cost effective to pay the healthcare premium for the individual than to provide traditional MHN coverage. In such cases, the private insurance becomes the primary carrier and MHN is the secondary carrier, paying only for those services not covered by the primary carrier.

The Department computes the monthly per capita costs. The per capita cost is expressed in Tables 6 and 7 as a “per member, per month” (PMPM) cost. The PMPM cost is determined by dividing the total cost (Title XIX, Title XXI, HIPP, and Other Cost) by the number of MHN enrollees ($E + S + C$). The quarterly cost is then divided by the three months in the quarter to obtain the monthly cost.
